Dec. 5, 1925

92nd.

[illegible] R. "Grandpa" Gibbs was [illegible] Progress office last Saturday, [illegible] ber 5th, and informed us that he was celebrating his ninety-second birthday on that day. He had just come from a fine birthday dinner prepared for him by his daughter-in-law, Mrs W. M. Gibbs. "Grandpa", despite his years, is hale and hearty and most every day takes a stroll down town where he enjoys meeting and talking to his friends. He was born in Knoxville, Tennessee on December 5, 1833. During the Civil War he served during the entire four years a member of the Tennessee Provost Guard, under Captain Sanders. In 1872 he removed with his family to Texas, settling in Erath county. He lost his companion about thirty years ago and for the past twenty-two years has made his home with his son, W. M Gibbs. "Grandpa" is a man who has grown old gracefully; he is a mild mannered old gentleman, always looked on the bright side of life and sees some good in everything and it is a pleasure to come in contact with a man who looks upon life like this aged patriot. He faces the future camly, has no quarrel with the younger generation and has many interesting things to relate of the past whose history he helped to make. We congratulate this gentleman of the Old South and trust he may live to see many more birthdays come and go.

W. R "Grandpa" Gibbs

W. R. "Grandpa" Gibbs was [illegible] Progress office last Saturday [illegible] ber 5th, and informed us that he was celebrating his ninety-second birthday on that day. He had just come from a fine birthday dinner prepared for him by his daughter-in-law, Mrs W. M. Gibbs. "Grandpa", despite his years, is hale and hearty and most every day takes a stroll down town where he enjoys meeting and talking to his friends. He was born in Knoxville, Tennessee on December 5, 1833 During the Civil War he served during the entire four years a member of the Tennessee Provost Guard, under Captain Sanders. In 1872 he removed with his family to Texas, settling in Erath county. He lost his companion about thirty years ago and for the past twenty-two years has made his home with his son, W. M Gibbs. "Grandpa" is a man who has grown old gracefully; he is a mild mannered old gentleman, always looked on the bright side of life and sees some good in everything and it is a pleasure to come in contact with a man who looks upon life like this aged patriot. He faces the future camly, has no quarrel with the younger generation and has many interesting things to relate of the past whose history he helped to make. We congratulate this gentleman of the Old South and trust he may live to see many more birthdays come and go.

Busy Woman's Class Entertain.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season was that given by Division Number Four of the Busy Woman's Class on last Thursday afternoon at the pretty new home of Mrs. Ray Long. The honored guests being the remaining thirty or more members of this class and a few of their friends

The house was beautifully decorated to carry out the Christmas spirit The tables had for their center-piece a miniature Christmas tree in a setting of sparkling snow and the red-bricked snow covered mantle needed only the bulging stocking to make i seem just like Christmas morning.

After the guests had arrived and were seated, all were kept busy, for there was not a minute to lose, lest you forfeit your chance to the pretty Christmas prizes given.

First your historical knowledge was tested in a most unique manner. Then bright colored squares of paper were passed and each guest was asked to draw what they wanted most for Christmas. This proved to be very entertaining, for leave it to ladies, to want the most expensive things they could think of, such as automobiles, diamonds, living room furniture and even an airplane, though this one did say she might take some thing else.

After this every one was informed that their "sense of smell" was now to be tested, and pretty cut glass perfume bottles were passed, of course everyone began wondering if they really could remember just how Houbigants and Black Narcissus did smell, lest they be embarrassed over this test. When suddenly from one corner of the room came peals of laughter, a few bottles had been opened and found to contain castor oil furniture polish, etc.

It was thn with great pleasure that the hostess presented Miss Ruth Schrimshire of Stephenville, who, in her charming manner, rendered several beautiful vocal numbers. Her accompanist being Mrs. Wilkinson also of Stephenville. Misses Wilma Spratt and Mary Robbins gave several piano selections during the afternoon, after which a delicious salad course was served. Mrs. Long being assisted in serving by Mrs. Fred Spratt, Fred West and Luther White member of the Fourth Division.

It Is Still an Issue.

The republican party is now engaged in what the Post believes will be a vain effort to convince the American people that the protective system as advocated by them is no longer an issue in the economic affairs of this government.

Never was there a weaker or more falacious position assumed by any party in the history of the country.

The republican party has been so successful in the past in this respect that its representatives find it hard to believe that the American people have at last opened their eyes to the enormity of their present tariff system, and the great injustice of its application.

In very many ways is the tariff law of 1897, known as the Dingley bill, an extreme application of the protective policy of the republican party. This law was passed in the face of the patent fact that this country has for years demonstrated its ability to meet the industrial competition of the world on equal footing, and to engage with other countries in aggressive competition, and that, too, with complete success. To deny this is a reflection upon American manhood and business sagacity.

It is not necessary to give figures of our exports to establish this fact. The truthfulness of the statement is known to the intelligent commercial world, and goes without question.

In view of the situation then, to frame a measure of extreme protective features was to overlook the most striking phase of the industrial situation in America.

With unquestioned ability to manufacture cheaply, and on a magnificent scale, and with the capacity to supply the demands of a market much greater than any home market, there was practically no opposition to encounter, and the great duty rates of the Dingley bill meant nothing but the building up of immense fortunes for the manufacturers at the expense of the great producing and consuming element of the country.

The tariff is still an issue and will remain an issue until the people place a party in power that will put it on a revenue basis simply, with a view to meeting the necessary expenses of the government economically administered.—Houston Post.

Mrs. Siothy Gibbs died July, 7, 1899, at her home near Bunyan, Erath county, Texas. She was the wife of W. R. Gibbs, and her maiden name was Vaughan.

She was married to W. R. Gibbs in Arkansas and they came to Texas in 1872, and stopped first in McClennan Co. Sister Gibbs was born the 5th of September, 1840, and professed faith in Christ in July, 1853, and at once joined the Baptist church, of which she lived a consistent member until her death.

"Why, has anything struck you as being out of the ordinary?" responded his New York friend, who was not a little pleased to find that there was something in the east that could disturb the equanimity of a man from the west.

"Huh!" said the westerner, "I should say that something has, several times, in fact, and this is why I am late in getting here. To begin with, I was almost run over by a cable car when I was crossing Broadway at Twenty-third street. That was bad enough for a man who has always liked horses and has lived among them all his life, but it is not the worst. As I jumped out of the way of the cable car I bumped into a horseless carriage, and while I was getting away from that I was almost run over by a man on a bicycle."

"That was rather rough," said the New York gentleman, with affected sympathy and a

—How selfish and inconsistent humanity generally is! A man can't afford to pay just a few cents or dollars to some charity or worthy cause, or put in a little time for the benefit of some one else, yet can spend several times as much money toward the gratification of some selfish appetite or personal pleasure, though the same be often injurious. A woman "just can't keep her children away from neighbor So and So's," although neighbor So and So may be sick, or have troubles of her own, and the little darling spends from two to six hours a day IN the way of the neighbor, really to be gotten OUT of the way of the mother. Yet, let the neighbors' children take the chicken-pox or other contagious disease and the little darling isn't allowed to get nearer the neighbors than the middle of the street. "Just can't" isn't heard then. There would be far less trouble in the world if parents would count visits with their children. Don't let your neighbors' children owe yours more than two or three visits at the most. This kind of debt brings trouble to somebody just the same as any other kind. Maybe the world can't be perfect, but it could be much better than it is.

—A petition has been gotten out and largely signed, asking the govenor to commute the sentence of Tom Wright to life imprisonment. The petition sets out that Wright did not have a fair trial, and every man signing it says to the governor that he did not. Yet the supreme court after a full investigation of the case, says the trial was a fair one. We want to see no one over punished, yet if the law is not executed no one is safe. The safety of society depends upon inflicting the penalty of the law. No one fears a law whose penalty can be easily avoided.

How Farming Pays.

It is quite certain tat farming will not pay a man who does not farm intelligently. In these days of close competition the man who fails to make the most of his opportunity is lost. It does not pay to raise cotton. The plan of raising varying crops does not pay because transportation costs too much. What then must be done? In the first place no man can live economically on rented land. Renting is wasteful from start to finish. It permits only one crop cotton.

Own your own home. Gov Hogg gave his fellow citizens some advice. Said he: "Buy a home what you can pay for, if it be onlp 20 acres. Pay for this and buy 20 acres more. But buy a home now while you can." I have some of the homes for sale. If you want to buy for cash or part on time you can find something to suit you in my list. If you have nothing to pay I will not sell you a farm. But you can buy unimproved land with nothing to pay down. If you are ready to buy come to see me.

—How selfish and inconsistent humanity generally is! A man can't afford to pay just a few cents or dollars to some charity or worthy cause, or put in a little time for the benefit of some one else, yet can spend several times as much money toward the gratification of some selfish appetite or personal pleasure, though the same be often injurious. A woman "just can't keep her children away from neighbor So and So's," although neighbor So and So may be sick, or have troubles of her own, and the little darling spends from two to six hours a day IN the way of the neighbor, really to be gotten OUT of the way of the mother. Yet, let the neighbors' children take the chicken-pox or other contagious disease and the little darling isn't allowed to get nearer the neighbors than the middle of the street. "Just can't" isn't heard then. There would be far less trouble in the world if parents would count visits with their children. Don't let your neighbors' children owe yours more than two or three visits at the most. This kind of debt brings trouble to somebody just the same as any other kind. Maybe the world can't be perfect, but it could be much better than it is.

—A petition has been gotten out and largely signed, asking the govenor to commute the sentence of Tom Wright to life imprisonment. The petition sets out that Wright did not have a fair trial, and every man signing it says to the governor that he did not. Yet the supreme court after a full investigation of the case, says the trial was a fair one. We want to see no one over punished, yet if the law is not executed no one is safe. The safety of society depends upon inflicting the penalty of the law. No one fears a law whose penalty can be easily avoided.

THE insurance companies excluded from business by the supreme court for violation of the anti-trust law are making an effort to resume business in the state.—St. Louis Republic.

How Farming Pays.

It is quite certain that farming will not pay a man who does not farm intelligently. In these days of close competition the man who fails to make the most of his opportunity is lost. It does not pay to raise cotton. The plan of raising varying crops does not pay because transportation costs too much. What then must be done? In the first place no man can live economically on rented land. Renting is wasteful from start to finish. It permits only one crop cotton.

Own your own home. Gov Hogg gave his fellow citizens some advice. Said he: "Buy a home what you can pay for, if it be only 20 acres. Pay for this and buy 20 acres more. But buy a home now while you can." I have some of the homes for sale. If you want to buy for cash or part on time you can find something to suit you in my list. If you have nothing to pay I will not sell you a farm. But you can buy unimproved land with nothing to pay down. If you are ready to buy come to see me.

It Is Still an Issue.

The republican party is now engaged in what the Post believes will be a vain effort to convince the American people that the protective system as advocated by them is no longer an issue in the economic affairs of this government.

Never was there a weaker or more falacious position assumed by any party in the history of the country.

The republican party has been so successful in the past in this respect that its representatives find it hard to believe that the American people have at last opened their eyes to the enormity of their present tariff system, and the great injustice of its application.

In very many ways is the tariff law of 1897, known as the Dingley bill, an extreme application of the protective policy of the republican party. This law was passed in the face of the patent fact that this country has for years demonstrated its ability to meet the industrial competition of the world on equal footing, and to engage with other countries in aggressive competition, and that, too, with complete success. To deny this is a reflection upon American manhood and business sagacity.

It is not necessary to give figures of our exports to establish this fact. The truthfulness of the statement is known to the intelligent commercial world, and goes without question.

In view of the situation then, to frame a measure of extreme protective features was to overlook the most striking phase of the industrial situation in America.

With unquestioned ability to manufacture cheaply, and on a magnificent scale, and with the capacity to supply the demands of a market much greater than any home market, there was practically no opposition to encounter, and the great duty rates of the Dingley bill meant nothing but the building up of immense fortunes for the manufacturers at the expense of the great producing and consuming element of the country.

The tariff is still an issue and will remain an issue until the people place a party in power that will put it on a revenue basis simply, with a view to meeting the necessary expenses of the government economically administered.—Houston Post.

High Water Aftermath.

Last week the Herald was crowded with a general account of the distructive flood that visited us on the last night in June. There was not room for details.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Slothy Gibbs died July, 7, 1899, at her home near Bunyan, Erath county, Texas. She was the wife of W. R. Gibbs, and her maiden name was Vaughan.

She was married to W. R. Gibbs in Arkansas and they came to Texas in 1872, and stopped first in McClennan Co. From there they moved to Young county and from Young to Erath, where they improved a good home in the vicinity of Bunyan, where they lived very happily indeed till death invaded their home and claimed Sister Gibbs. This sad event has left her husband alone, as all the children born to them are grown up and married.

Sister Gibbs was born the 5th of September, 1840, and professed faith in Christ in July, 1853, and at once joined the Baptist church, of which she lived a consistent member until her death.

As a wife, Sister Gibbs was devoted to her husband, with unceasing fidelity, and as a mother she was affectionate, and vigilant for the welfare of her children. Especially did she try to impress upon them the importance of growing up to revere and honor God, and to make quiet, orderly citizens. In this particular she has left her impress upon the hearts and lives of her children, who now mourn their loss in the death of their sainted mother.

As a Christian, Sister Gibbs was reserved and modest, but not to a fault; for while she was never loud or out-spoken, as to her profession of the Christian religion, yet in her cheerful and straightforward and consistent life she was a ''living epistle'' known and read of all who knew her. It is said that she was never known to have a cross or difficulty with anyone. Her religion was broad and catholic in spirit, and while she belonged to the Baptist church and believed in denominationalism, yet she had no place in her heart for narrow sectarian selfishness. She had fellowship of feeling and brotherly love for all Christians. Everybody who knew her was friend, and they loved her because she was a good woman.

Her life's work is done. ''Ended is the glorious strife.'' She has bidden earth, husband, and children adieu, but by her exemplary life and her triumphant death she has said to you all, ''Follow me as I follow Christ.''

May the grace of God comfort your hearts and guide you all to the sunlit clime of fadeless glory, and there give you the joy of a happy reunion with wife and mother, to enjoy an endless and blissful immortality in the home of the pure and the good, is the prayer of your friend and brother,

"They Do Such Things!"

''What kind of a town is this you are getting?'' breathlessly asked a bewildered gentleman from the west as he arrived ten minutes late at an important appointment, looking as if he had undergone a severe shock of some kind.

''Why, has anything struck you as being out of the ordinary?'' responded his New York friend, who was not a little pleased to find that there was something in the east that could disturb the equanimity of a man from the west.

''Huh!'' said the westerner, ''I should say that something has, several times, in fact, and this is why I am late in getting here. To begin with, I was almost run over by a cable car when I was crossing Broadway at Twenty-third street. That was bad enough for a man who has always liked horses and has lived among them all his life, but it is not the worst. As I jumped out of the way of the cable car I bumped into a horseless carriage, and while I was getting away from that I was almost run over by a man on a bicycle.''

WILLIAM RUSSELL GIBBS DIED MARCH 28TH

William Russell Gibbs, familiarly known by the citizenship as "Grandpa" Gibbs, died Sunday, March 28th at the advanced age of 92 years, three months and 23 days. Death came at the home of his son W. M. Gibbs, with whom he had made his home since the death of his aged companion nearly thirty years ago. He was born in Knox County, Tennessee, December 5, 1833. He located in Erath county forty-one years ago and settled near Bunyan, on the "divide" between that community and Lingleville

Surviving him are one daughter and five stalwart sons as follows: Mrs. A. M. House of Rawls, Wyoming; Z. M. Gibbs of Godley, Texas; B. F. Gibbs of Harbin; I. S. Gibbs of Superior, Arizona; W. S. Gibbs of Beeville, and W. M. Gibbs of Dublin. He had been a consecrated member of the Missionary Baptist church since early manhood more than seventy years ago For these many years of a useful and eventful life he lived with a purity and gentleness of a woman. He was quite, unassuming, never in the lime light and graciously lived his own life in his own way and lived it wel. It is said that in all the years of his time he never used tobacco or intoxicants, and no one ever heard him use an oath. He was singularly free from any of the common vices of the man of his time. He was a perfect example of a man who gracefully grew to old age and he left a course worthy of emulation by the generation to follow. The beautiful attitude of the son and his entire family where he made his home was extraordinary. Nothing was too much trouble for "Grandpa" and he was always grateful and pleasant.

A large number of friends of the deceased and of the family attended the funeral at Bunyan in spite of the inclement weather and an even much larger number were present for the funeral services at the home on north Patrick street at 2 o'clock Monday evening, March 29th, 1926.

A. J. BROWN CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS AS DRILLING HAS BEEN RESUMED

A. J. Brown, president and manager of the A. J. Brown Developing Corporation is confident that his company will bring in a mammoth gusher well when his operation west of Dublin has been completed to the required depth.

After having finished a difficult fishing job at the well last week, when about 500 feet of six and five-eighths inchj casing separated in the hole, the crew at the N. H. Evans well were successful in re-setting the casing, and operations are again going ahead rapidly.

All indications for a big producer are excellent, believes Mr. Brown, as he says his company's well continues to log about 85 feet higher than the Trojan discovery well, which is now being pumped. This, says Mr. Bronw, is an excelent sign that his well is drilling higher up on structure, if not right on the crest o fstructure.

The big man is lavish in his praise of Dublin and Dublinites. "You have treated me and my crew royally here" he says, and never in my career have I found a community so willing and anxious to help, in an undertaking, which is, after all, a thing that will help you as well as myself and the shareholders of my company" For the sake of all concerned, most of all that of my stockholders and of Dublin, I sincerely hope that the bringing in of our well wil mark a new era in oildom, and in the history of your wonderful city."

Other operations of Mr. Brown are also reported progressing with all speed. Near the Byrd's store field in Brown county, he reports the derrick up, with preparations being made to drill soon, and he also expects to start his third well in due time.

Mr. "Cal" Roden, formerly field superintendent for Mr. Brown, and who, by the way, claims no "kin" to Cal Coolidge is now reported to be seriously considering the forming of a company to be headed by himself, for the purpose of drilling a well. Whether or not this will be near Dublin or elsewhere, Mr. Roden is not prepared to say, but he adds, "Nothing would please me better than to make this city the seat of my operations, should my present plans mature.

Mr. Brown is expected to be in the city the latter part of this week to make an inspection of the well, and to attend to business matters.

The friends throughout this and a joining counties of Judge J. E. Hic man, now practicing attorney Breckenridge, will be gratified learn that the Judge has definite announced his candidacy for ass ciate justice of the court of civil a peals. They will not inquire as who will be his opponent in the can paign, for knowing Judge Hickma aspires to the place their minds wi be already settled regardless of who this other gentleman may be or ho well he may fit into the place. F information however it should known that Judge Hickman is aspi ing to the place number two, now o cupied by Judge Ridgell and he want it to be known he is not an oppone against Judge Pannill, who is a ca dida'e for chief justice of the sam court. Judge Hickman was for a nun ber of years a resident and practicin attorney in Dublin previous to his r moval to Breckenridge for the larg field that opened to his services at th bar in that city. When he announce his determination to remove fro Dublin to the larger field it was wit genuine regrets the information wa received by the citizenship in this cit His giving up residence here mean the vacancy of a much larger fiel than merely that of a fair and hono able practioneer at the bar, for h was a part and parcel of every wort while activity of good citizenship i the town and the recognized leader i almost every useful and Godly enter prise undertaken. In civic righteous ness and progress he was a valian leader of the forces, in material ad vancement he was looked to as th towering strength upon which succes was to be achieved, in educationa matters he was looked upon as th one predominant and capable perso to direct and maintain advancemen in religious activity he was foun supporting and safely directing wit his wealth of mind and purse in th broadest views of Christian virtu and example, in loyalty to country h was a safe leader of thought and con scious in the community which he lov ed and for which he felt an individua responsibility.

As no other of the valuable citizen we have known and loved in Dubli has the responsibility of good citizen ship so broadly and fully been met a in Judge Hickman. Why should w not gladly grasp an opportunity to d him and his virtues an honor? Wh should we not welcome the opportun ity to further the ambitions of such man one time one of our number.

The big man is lavish in his praise of Dublin and Dublinites. "You have treated me and my crew royally here" he says, and never in my career have I found a community so willing and anxious to help, in an undertaking, which is, after all, a thing that will help you as well as myself and the shareholders of my company" For the sake of all concerned, most of all that of my stockholders and of Dublin, I sincerely hope that the bringing in of our well wil mark a new era in oildom, and in the history of your wonderful city."

Other operations of Mr. Brown are also reported progressing with all speed. Near the Byrd's store field in Brown county, he reports the derrick up, with preparations being made to drill soon, and he also expects to start his third well in due time.

Mr. "Cal" Roden, formerly field superintendent for Mr. Brown, and who, by the way, claims no "kin" to Cal Coolidge is now reported to be seriously considering the forming of a company to be headed by himself, for the purpose of drilling a well. Whether or not this will be near Dublin or elsewhere, Mr. Roden is not prepared to say, but he adds, "Nothing would please me better than to make this city the seat of my operations, should my present plans mature.

Mr. Brown is expected to be in the city the latter part of this week to make an inspection of the well, and to attend to business matters.

WILLIAM RUSSELL GIBBS DIED MARCH 28TH

William Russell Gibbs, familiarly known by the citizenship as "Grandpa" Gibbs, died Sunday, March 28th at the advanced age of 92 years, three months and 23 days. Death came at the home of his son W. M. Gibbs, with whom he had made his home since the death of his aged companion nearly thirty years ago. He was born in Knox County, Tennessee, December 6, 1833. He located in Erath county forty-one years ago and settled near Bunyan, on the "divide" between that community and Lingleville

Surviving him are one daughter and five stalwart sons as follows: Mrs. A. M. House of Rawls, Wyoming; Z. M. Gibbs of Godley, Texas; B. F. Gibbs of Harbin; I. S. Gibbs of Superior, Arizona; W. S. Gibbs of Beeville, and W. M. Gibbs of Dublin. He had been a consecrated member of the Missionary Baptist church since early manhood more than seventy years ago For these many years of a useful and eventful life he lived with a purity and gentleness of a woman. He was quite, unassuming, never in the lime light and graciously lived his own life in his own way and lived it wel. It is said that in all the years of his time he never used tobacco or intoxicants, and no one ever heard him use an oath. He was singularly free from any of the common vices of the man of his time. He was a perfect example of a man who gracefully grew to old age and he left a course worthy of emulation by the generation to follow. The beautiful attitude of the son and his entire family where he made his home was extraordinary. Nothing was too much trouble for "Grandpa" and he was always grateful and pleasant.

A large humber of friends of the deceased and of the family attended the funeral at Bunyan in spite of the inclement weather and an even much larger number were present for the funeral services at the home on north Patrick street at 2 o'clock Monday evening, March 29th, 1926.

A. J. BROWN CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS AS DRILLING HAS BEEN RESUMED

A. J. Brown, president and manager of the A. J. Brown Developing Corporation is confident that his company will bring in a mammoth gusher well when his operation west of Dublin has been completed to the required depth.

After having finished a difficult fishing job at the well last week, when about 500 feet of six and five-eighths inchj casing separated in the hole, the crew at the N. H. Evans well were successful in re-setting the casing, and operations are again going ahead rapidly.

All indications for a big producer are excellent, believes Mr. Brown, as he says his company's well continues to log about 85 feet higher than the Trojan discovery well, which is now being pumped. This, says Mr. Bronw, is an excelent sign that his well is drilling higher up on structure, if not right on the crest o fstructure.

The big man is lavish in his praise of Dublin and Dublinites. "You have treated me and my crew royally here" he says, and never in my career have I found a community so willing and anxious to help, in an undertaking, which is, after all, a thing that will help you as well as myself and the shareholders of my company" For the sake of all concerned, most of all that of my stockholders and of Dublin, I sincerely hope that the bringing in of our well wil mark a new era in oildom, and in the history of your wonderful city."

Dear Willielee;

Took time out for the "Cowboy" game!!

Sorry I am not typing this - my old Smith-Corona has decided to stick on B.D.M. G's - think it has had too much genealogy? Borrowed my Granddaughters but it does so many different things (she didn't sent the instructions) I get a lot of extra goodies that I didn't type.

So much for all the "B.S."!

I have enclosed my updates on our family just in case Sonja doesn't get our families off the press this year, and ① The 1987 Gibbs update - you may have this?

② The Gibbs Magazine - June, 1923

copy well and I picked this up at the 1991 reunion.

④ An article on "Horseshoe Bend".

⑤ Instructions on getting to the Gibbs Home

⑥ The pictures Bunyan Cemetery and marker we had put down for Nicholas, Jr. and his wife, Rachael. as well as a copy of the request form. These were sent along with the Military papers I sent copies of them to you in my first letter.

⑦ Various obituaries and death certificates. I need to find the ones on Z.M. and wife, obituaries I mean. and some pictures of earlier times.

The fellow I mentioned to you who was living in Calif. and a descendant of James C. was Dr. Richard Roy Gibbs and was shown on the Gibbs news letter of Jan. 1990. You probably have it, but am including a copy.

Hope some of this is of benefit to you and if I run across additional info I will send.

Several of my family are planning on attending the Reunion in June, 93 (200th year old) so maybe our path will cross there if not before.

Hope you and yours have a really "Good Thanksgiving". We will - all of my children and their children and John's daughter with her family. She has one son and an exchange student from Belgrade, Yugoslavia. He will be 18 in Dec - 6'3" - 220 lbs. So it will be his first Thanksgiving and I always have lots to eat so no problem.

"Happy Birthday" too!

This has taken me about 3 days and need to go make the copies so I can mail this.

Fondly, your Texas cousin, Eileen

[illegible] HERE AND THERE

[illegible] and Random spent Sunday and Monday in West Texas—'bout 125 miles west. Mighty fine folks out that way. Used to live among them [illegible]. But I'd forgotten about high winds and sand storms. Folks out there said we weren't seeing anything, said we should have been there a week or so earlier when it was necessary to turn on lights at mid-day. We thanked 'em kindly and allowed there was enough grit in the air for [illegible] County boys. But as I said, they['re] real good folks even if the sheriff can legally assess taxes against them for the real estate they carry on their persons.—

We were mighty worried about all the Mesquites being dead after we passed Stamford. The land don't have a natural appearance at all. But we found out that big freeze in January put the Mesquites out of business just like it did some of the Live-oaks, Cedars and shrubbery around here.

Quite dry out that way. Folks, however, are optimistic, say they can plant cotton anything up to the 4th o' July. Guess they are right—I've seen them do that very thing and make bumper crops. [illegible]
